

How can NeroQom make water work smarter?

For projects which are exposed to very heavy pollution just a bucket of water and brush won't get results.

That's where our professional water clean takes results to the next level.

Controlling the way in which we deploy water will remove all contaminations or prepare the surface for further treatment.

We achieve this by using latest machines which let us change both the pressure, nozzle rotation and temperature of the water.

The Squad will pick the right set-up for the job.

We can customise the Discipline to resolve the problem without damaging your surface.

What services do NeroQom offer?

The Squad is equipped with and trained to use the best in jet wash and variable temperature pressure washing equipment. You point, we'll clean.

Which solution we'll use will depend on the status, situation and substrate. Common uses for our Disciplines include dealing with:

- Heavy contamination
- Preparing for future treatments
- Graffiti
- Algae
- Old coatings or paint
- Spillages

These can be completed on stone, bricks, masonry, concrete, pavement and other, similar surfaces.

If you're not sure if it's right for you, just ask.

Which equipment do you use?

The Squad is on the road with the latest technology to hand. We have experts who are experienced with every machine to ensure we do the best job every time.

We know which equipment and configuration get the right results on every material... and which should never be used at all.

The equipment we use is from leading manufacturers in their industry. This ensures the quality of every machine so that we get the most controlled, consistent result possible.

Our equipment is also highly efficient.

Each has low fuel consumption and the best work-rate, minimising our environmental impact. We can even collect waste water from each job to avoid run-off and contamination at your location.

We've invested in the right tools for the job, so you just need to let us know where to start.

How much of the job do you take care of?

NeroQom is an end-to-end partner. That means that we will complete the survey, planning, execution and aftercare for the task. This includes temporary protection, permits, specialist equipment or security needs which your project may have and much more beyond.

If you'd like to see exactly what we're capable of, then please look at our Discipline Menu.

You'll find the most up to date version on our clean website at the link below:

<https://www.NeroQomServices.com/dm>